LITERARY NOTES.

**Colonel T. W. Higginson has written a novel entitled eddly enough, "The Monarch of Dreams." It is a queer study of brain action and has for here a man who tries to lead two lives—one in the waking world and one in dreams at night. The book will soon be issued by Lee &

Von Bodenstedt, the poet, who has lately seen the 125th edition of "Die Lieder des Mirza Schaffy," is so ubled with sphthalmia that he is obliged to write upon blue paper and to use blue spectacles.

"My Life" is the title of the forthcoming autobiography of Lisat. It is reported that "he has delineated with considerable vigor the faults and folbles both of his enemies and of his friends. The book is full of portraitches of men of the time, but there is said to be not a breath of scandal in it."

A "rapid outline of American history" will be found it is said, in Mr. G. M. Towle's "Nation in a Nutsheil," s ok which Lee & Shepard are about to publish.

The November Harper covers a wide range of subjects.
It skips from "The Literary Movement in New-York" to "Co-operation among English Workingmen"; from Madame Adam's rather dult account of how she formed her saion to an excellent paper on the "American Cow-boy"; from an Egyptian political tragedy to a handnely Illustrated paper on our Coast Guard. Mr. W. H. Gibson has fairly surpassed himself in the drawings for his paper on the "Grassy Road," The very life. movement and color of nature seem to glow and stir in there bits of black and white. Mr. Warner's " Pilgramage" is concluded in this number and Master Cupiu bows out his audience. "Springhaven" is continued, and raphies. Some of the portraits fillus rating Mr. La-throp's article on his fellow-craftsmen are very good in their was; some of them are curiously unlike their originals. The article itself is carefully written; but we suspect that Mr. Lathrop will wist by-and-by that he

Dr. Georg Brandes's book on "Eminent Authors of the Nineteenth Century" has been translated by the Hon. R B. Anderson, our Minister to Denmark, and the translation will be published in a few days by T. Y.

The leading article—and the most interesting one—in the November number of the Magazine of American History is Mr. R. L. Powier's sketch of Thomas Pownall hinson's predecessor as Governor of Massachusetts. the friend of Franklin and a benefactor of Harvard. Another pager written in a somewhat stilted style offers some entertaining extracts from the records of the Burgwin family of Wilmington. The author manages to present, though with some awkwardness, an excellent picture of a stately American home of the last century.

The eighth bound volume of Outing, being the first under the management of Mr. Poultney Bigelow, has just appeared. Outing has a field unshared by any other magazine and an excellent chance for a long life. With care in editing it ought to make for itself an enviable maps 1 vol., 8vo. $1 50.

During the past few years everything relating to Alaska ha been regarded with increased interest, and Mr Fillott's book comes at the time it is most needed. The author, as he says in the preface, has endeavored to "portray in word, and by brush and pencil, the life and country of Alaska as it is, so clearly and so truthfully that the reader may draw his or her own in-ference, just as though he or she stood upon the ground itself. A scientist and a naturalist, his book on Alaska, besides being of the utmost interest to the general reader, is of great value and importance as a contribution to scientific research. The author has spent six or seven years in studying the country and its people, travelling from the most southerly point of the province to the most northerly, along the coast, and among the siands extending nearly 3,000 miles to the west. His treat ment of the seal interests is particularly full, and just now of

Dr. Briggs, who gives us in this book a critical study of the Messiac prophecy of the Old Testament in the order of their development, belongs to that influential group of religious scholars and thinkers who approach the Bible and all religious themes in a thoroughly progressive spirit. This book is the result of pro o and study and high scholarship. The author is well known as an authority on all that relates to the Testament study, and his work is one which is sure to attract universal attention among Biblical scholars.

A book which has attracted extraordinary and well-merited attention first in Germany, where the faithfulness of its pictares of social life was keenly appreciated, and then in England. This admirable edition will introduce a most charming

"Our author has singled out one tiny group for study of an almost scientific accuracy and thoroughness, and has then fused his observations into such a living picture as only a true artist can create. His sketches are vigorous, realistic, and racy; they sparkle with bright fun and joyousness.

There was no special feature to the grain market yester-day. A fair business was done in wheat for export, 88,000 bushels being taken by shippers. December 8614, January 872, May 9324 cents. Cash corn was not materially changed; shippers bought 60,000 bushels. The options were firmer, but the gain was largely lost; October at 455, November at 455, and May at 492, were unchanged while December at 463, and January at 472, cents were to cent higher. The close was weak. Oats also had a weak closing, but the final changes were light. October easel off to 324, November at 324, January at 34 and May at 334, were unchanged while becember rose to cent to 333, cents. There were free purchases of refined lard for export and the options were a tritle higher as follows. October 36 05; November $6.05; December $6.13; January $6.21; February, $6.29; May ch $6.38; the year $9.05.

THE TRADE IN CHICAGO.

CHICAGO, Oct. 27 (Social).—The wheat market opened weak and became strong. On the curb December wheat was sold down to 74%c. The operators on the regular board, after a little heartstion, moved up the price above 75c. Corn was quiet all day. Privileges last night sold within be of the market and so May corn did not get under 10% nor above 41%. Provisions were as dull as corn, January pork keeping pretty close to 59 80 all the morning. The charters to-day were libered for wheat aggregating 102,000 bushels. There was from also taken for 192,000 bushels of corn and 59,000 bushels of flax. Sellers of calls exerted themselves to get prices down, but December wheat held firmly and closed at 75% 475% cents. May corn closed at 41% cents, January pork at 89 77%. Puts on May corn 41% cents. Calls on May corn 41% cents, pints on December wheat, 75 cents; calls on December wheat, 75 cents. The receipts to-day were 136 cars of wheat, 203 of corn and 89 of oats.
